

Riccardo D'Angelo

Riccardo D'Angelo is Managing Director of Legal Services, Global Transactions for Accenture. He is responsible for overseeing legal support for North America's Financial Services client group and Accenture's Global Operations (BPO, IO and IC) practice. In this role, he provides legal advice to senior business leadership on legal and contracting matters, oversees deal shaping and negotiations for some of Accenture's most complex transactions and is responsible for supervising a team of legal professionals providing legal support in client-facing transactions. Before joining Accenture in 2004, Riccardo practiced law at a large international law firm in Canada specializing in the areas of secured lending, corporate M&A and commercial IT/outsourcing.
