Katy Pitch is a partner in the firm's Tax Practice.

Her practice focuses on all areas of domestic and cross-border corporate income tax law (both public and private), including mergers and acquisitions, corporate transactions and reorganizations, banking transactions, the taxation of mining companies, investment and hedge funds, private equity and executive compensation.

In her taxation of executive compensation practice, Katy is involved in all aspects of the design and implementation of tax efficient executive compensation plans for public and private companies including equity and non-equity based incentive compensation arrangements.

Katy is a member of the Law Society of Upper Canada, the Canadian Tax Foundation, the Canadian Bar Association and the International Fiscal Association. She is currently a member of the taxation law section of the Ontario Bar Association and an editor of Thomson Reuters' Taxation of Executive Compensation and Retirement Journal.

She joined the firm from Stikeman Elliott's Toronto tax group where she was counsel.
